Curriculum Intent Statement

The principal goal of education is to create men and women who are capable of doing new things, not simply of repeating what other generations have done-who are creative, inventive, and discovers. The second goal of education is to form minds which can be critical, can verify, and not accept everything they are offered.

At Lunesdale Learning Trust in Psychology we will enable pupils to:

- Gain a clear understanding of the research processes used to investigate human behaviour
- Become a researcher and carry out small scale research into human behaviour
- Be aware of the implications of psychological research in terms of policy implementation and social sensitivity
- Critically evaluate classic and contemporary published psychological research in terms of validity and reliability
- Be comfortable with the use of descriptive and inferential statistics in Psychological research
- Make links between psychological theories how they relate to real life behaviour
